

Tryouts Planned for SWOSU Mind Games Team

08.29.2011

Southwestern Oklahoma State University students will soon compete against other Oklahoma universities in Mind Games, a buzzer quiz game based on knowledge in all academic fields.

Students will compete for cash scholarships in the contest, which will be televised on KSBI-TV.

Tryouts for the SWOSU team are on two consecutive Thursdays, September 8 and 15, at 6:30 p.m. in Stafford Center Room 110. Organizer Kevin Collins said students are encouraged to try out, have fun, show off their knowledge and have a chance to earn cash prizes.

An informational and practice session is planned on Thursday, September 1, from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in Campbell Building Room 204, and students who come to this meeting can learn about the game and practice it even though this session is not mandatory.

For more information or to register (as a four-person team or as an individual), email Dr. Collins at kevin.collins@swosu.edu.
